

Canuck Place Abbotsford

NSDA Architects begins design work for the new Canuck Place Childrens' Hospice in Abbotford. Canuck Place will be part of a Campus of Care to be located adjacent the Abbotsford Regional Hospital.

Canuck Place in Vancouver opened its doors in 1995 as the first free standing children's hospice in North America. Today it is recognized globally as a leader in pediatric palliative care sharing knowledge, expertise and research regionally, nationally and internationally to assist in the further development of best practices in this field.

The new Canuck Place in Abbotsford, a 24,000 square foot facility, will provide 10-childrens' beds, 5 family suites and related support services. The new Abbotsford location will meet the growing demand for the Canuck Place program and make it available closer to home for many BC children and families in the Fraser Valley and Interior, lessening their need for travel.

Construction is slated to begin the fall of 2010.
