

Condominium Home Owners Association of BC welcomes NSDA Architects as member

The Condominium Home Owners Association of B.C. (CHOA) is a non-profit association that promotes the understanding of strata property living and the interests of strata property owners. Neale Staniszkis Doll Adams Architects brings specialized services in the field of building renovation and building envelope remediation as part of the Association's goal of providing advisory services, education, advocacy, publications and resources and support for its members.

NSDA Architects explores ways to improve the performance of the building envelope through the joint perspectives of building science and architectural modification. As a member of the Condominium Home Owners Association of BC, NSDA Architects is better able to assist strata corporations, individual owners, strata related associations and governmental agencies across British Columbia.
