

Concept design for InnerVisions Recovery Society completed

NSDA Architects has completed the conceptual design for a forty unit transitional housing project for InnerVisions Recovery Society in Coquitlam, BC.

The three storey project has support services and common amenities located on the main level; treatment units for thirty-two residents on the second level; and eight transitional housing units on the third level for those residents who are in their final stages of the recovery program and getting ready to integrate back into the community.

The InnerVisions Recovery Society's goal is to provide a safe and nurturing environment where people suffering from addiction can go and learn a new way to live, free from alcohol and drugs.