

NSDA Architects is Expanding

our leadership with the promotion of two new principals and two new associates. Each brings a unique combination of experience, passion, and background, to our clients' projects and to our firm.

Brian Dust, Architect AIBC, CHES - Principal
bdust@nsda.bc.ca

Brian is committed to designing projects that go beyond the expected and conventional, to make them inspirational and exceptional. He specializes in multi-unit residential buildings, special needs housing, and residential healthcare facilities.

Ken Wong, Architect AIBC - Principal kwong@nsda.bc.ca

Ken is dedicated to achieving the best outcome for clients and ensuring the project makes a qualitative difference in the life experience of its users. He specializes in special-needs, social housing, residential healthcare facilities, seniors' retirement communities, and civic buildings.

Peter Fodor, Architect AIBC - Associate pfodor@nsda.bc.ca

Peter has a dedicated focus on complex residential projects with work in Ontario, Alberta, and British Columbia. He specializes in designing multi-unit mixed-use communities, social and special-needs housing.

Eitaro Hirota, Architect AIBC - Associate ehirota@nsda.bc.ca

Eitaro approaches every project with the philosophy that architecture has the ability to entice interaction and create meaningful connections. He specializes in various forms of seniors' housing, village communities for persons with dementia, and housing prototypes to support aging in place.
